

Blue Water Rover Crew

*You are hereby challenged by Murrumbidgee Rover Crew to a day of tests based on knowledge pertaining to the art of cinema. To the layman:
Movie trivia, bitches.*

On the 26th of the month of September at 1pm, you are expected to appear at North Kambah Scout Hall. Failure to do so will lead to the reasonable conclusion that you are sissies and MRC will thus affirm its superiority without incident. In the meantime, prepare yourselves by performing expeditions to the Internet so that you may look up factoids about prolific films, and perform memory exercises so you can recall fine details in brief clips of films.

Do not fail to cover the spectrum all the way from sci-fi, action and western down to comedy, drama and horror.

Additionally, you are also in the meantime to utilise your creative abilities and capture them on film. Each crew must put together one (1) short film, approximately 5-10 minutes in length, with a clear plot, characters, and whatever audio or visual effects and such you see fit. Camera phones are NOT valid recording devices. Each crew will submit their one (1) film to be screened on the day, and they will be judged by an independent assessor.

At the conclusion of tests, rounds and challenges, you are invited to stay the night and partake in food and beverages as we together watch a film. Said film will be chosen by way of tournament over the course of the day.

The challenge is issued.

YOUR MOVE, FLYNN. GAME ON.
